Officer Michael J. Moore Attacked in Railway Yards and Rendered Helpless.

ADOLPHUS THRIFT HELD UP

General Alarm Calls Out Whole Southside Force—One Man Is Arrested on Suspicion, Charged With

Negro footpads attacked Patrolman Michael J. Moore, of the Third District, at 12:15 o'clock this morning near the Bainbridge Street crossing over the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, in South Richmond. In the scuffle the officer was relieved of his police revolver, and the men, after rendering him helpiess, hurriedly departed.

The attack occurred while Patrolman Moore was searching through the railroad yards for a negro, who, carller in the night, had held up and shot Adolphus Thrift, of East Seventeenth Street, Oak Grove, in the foot. The men jumped him from behind, and the weapon was wrested from his grasp wright, members of the Southside force made a diligent search for the men, but until 2 o'clock they had not been captured. As far as could be learned, Patrolman Moore was not badly hurt. He was able to aid in the search. His report of the occurrence will be made to-day.

The negro was armed with an Iver on the two plans under

The vexing Ninth Street bridge problem, now pending in the City Council on recommendation by the Ad-Council on recommendation by the Administrative Board for a special appropriation, is one which the chamber-officials felt should very properly be discussed by a joint conference with the business interests of the south side of the river. The bridge question is of paramount interest in South Richmond, and the delegates from the other side of the river came to the conference with fixed ideas of what should be done by the city to make the structure safe and substantial.

A committee will be named from the

A committee will be named from the members of the Joint conference to attend the meeting of the Board of Aldermen to-night and urge that no action be taken on the Administrative Board's recommendation pending more searching investigation of the kind of searching investigation of the searching investigation repairs necessary to make the Ninth Street bridge permanently safe.
